RAILWAY MAGNATES KILLED IN WRECK ON ROCK ISLAND

JAMES T. HARAHAN AMONG THE VICTIMS

Wreck on Illinois Central Kills Former President of the System and Three Other Noted Railway Men.

ROCK ISLAND RAILWAYMEN AMONG DEAD

Solicitor General Pierce, Second Vice President Melcher and Attorney E. E. Wright Die in Collision.

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 22.—Four men, eminent in the railway world, one of them a former president of the system, were killed today in a rear-end collision on the Illinois Central railway at Kinmundy, a small station twenty miles from here, early today.

The Dead.

The dead are:

JAMES T. HARAHAN, former president of the Illinois Central railroad.

E. B. PIERCE, general solicitor of the Rock Island Railroad company.

FRANK O. MELCHER, second vice president of the Rock Island.

ELDRIDGE E. WRIGHT, son of Luke E. Wright, former secretary of war and governor general of the Philippines.

Three trainmen were injured and other passengers in the ecoach were hurt.

Dead in Private Car.

Train No. 25, known as the New Orleans express, was taking water at Kinmundy at 1 o'clock when train No. 3, the Panama limited, ran into the rear of No. 25. The killed were in the private car of Mr. Melcher. Their bodies were found near the berths they had occupied. Four occupants of the private car escaped death or injury. These are Byron B. Curry, private secretary of Vice President Melcher; Thomas B. Buzbee, attorney for the Rock Island for the states of Arkansas and Louisiana, and two negro porters.

The engine of No. 3 plowed its way through the private car which was attached to No. 25 and was stopped by the steel coaches immediately preceding. The impact shoved the standing train for a distance down the tracks, although its brakes were locked.

Relief trains left for the scene of the wreck, intending to bring the injured and dead to this place.

Steel Cars Intact.

The limited carried sleeping coaches only and withstood the terrific smashing. The express was composed of coaches built of steel. The trains were due to pass south of Centralia, but because of No. 25 being late No. 3 met it at Kinmundy.

It is said no flagman went back from No. 25.

Harahan recently retired from the presidency of the Illinois railroad on a pension. Melcher lived at Winnetka, Ill., and Pierce in Highland Park, suburbs of Chicago. Mr. Wright resides in Memphis.

Residents of Kinmundy, a town of 1,500 inhabitants, opened their doors to succor the injured soon after the news spread of the wreck.

Trainmen Are Hurt.

Engineer Robert Stuart and Vert, fireman of the limited, were the two trainmen injured. Both are from Champaign and were taken to their homes. Stuart was cut and bruised and Vert's leg was broken.

The bodies of the dead were taken through here this morning to Chicago.

The cause of the wreck is ascribed to scarcity of water along the road. A special order makes it necessary for all trains to take water at Kinmundy and a freight train which took water before the express held the express longer than usual.

Stuart and Vert were a freight crew lately put on a passenger train. It is believed they forgot about the order for all trains to take water. The flagman on No. 25 did not have time to flag the limited.

The accident occurred half a block north of the Kinmundy depot. The engine of the limited went half way

STEEL SCHEDULE IS GIVEN A SLASHING BY DEMOCRATS

A Free List, Including Ore and a Deep Cut in Rates Are Provided for in Ways and Means Bill.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Reductions of from 30 to 50 per cent. on all items in the iron and steel tariff and the placing on the tariff free list of iron ore, sewing machines, printing machinery, cash registers, nails and many other articles against which the tariff is now levied are proposed in the democratic steel revision tariff bill, made public today.

Democratic Leader Underwood estimated that the bill would reduce the average tariff on steel imports from 34.51 per cent. to 22.42 ad valorem; would reduce the government tariff revenues from steel products by $823,597 from 1911 and by $4,000,000 from 1910. Imports of steel products, he said, would be increased by nearly $20,000,000.

The bill was completed by the democratic members of the ways and means committee on Saturday. After being submitted to the full committee the bill will be laid before the democratic caucus tomorrow afternoon. If approved by the caucus, it will be formally introduced in the house Wednesday. Sweeping reductions are made in all of the important items of the iron and steel tariff. Among articles now

WANT THE BOOKS IN STEEL QUIZ

Stanley Committee Would Like to Look Into the Closer Affairs.

WILL ISSUE SUBPOENA

Washington, Jan. 22.—President J. J. Farrell and Attorney J. A. Reed, of the United States Steel corporation, appearing today before the house "steel trust" investigating committee, produced books and records ordered by the committee. Mr. Reed said the corporation had not abandoned hope that the committee would avoid unnecessary publicity of the operating costs of the corporation's business.

Chairman Stanley told the steel officials that it was not the committee's purpose unnecessarily to make public trade secrets, but that all the facts essential to show the corporation's standing under the Sherman anti-trust law would be made public.

"There will be no unnecessary or spiteful use of these records," he added.

"That is all I can ask," replied Attorney Reed.

Profit and loss figures for the year 1912 to date were supplied, and Mr. Stanley announced they could be used "without restriction."

During the summer Mr. Stanley agreed that cost sheets would be used by the committee's expert so as not to make public actual operating costs of subsidiary companies, but since a subpena duces tecum had issued for these records, the chairman declared he was no longer bound by the restriction. Attorney Reed said he realized that the subpena was issued to nullify the previous agreement.

President Farrell testified that since he had been president there had been "occasional meetings of the presidents of the various companies, but there never have been any minutes kept of those meetings."

When Chairman Stanley asked for minutes of the Carnegie Steel company, before it was absorbed, Mr. Farrell said he knew of "no records in existence concerning the Carnegie Steel company prior to 1901."

BRITISH ROYALTY VISITS NEW YORK

Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia There.

GUESTS OF REIDS

New York, Jan. 22.—The Duke of Connaught, uncle of King George of England, the Duches of Connaught and their daughter, Princess Patricia, and their suite, reached here from Ottawa today for a social visit of four days in New York city. The vice regal party are the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. The visit of the governor general of Canada and his party marks the first call of royalty to this county since the visit nearly ten years ago of Prince Henry of Prussia. The Duke of Connaught and Ambassador Reid had let it become known that the visit is a purely personal one, and there is nothing official or even semi-official about it.

The first of the social engagements for the duke and his party was a luncheon at noon at the home of Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, following which a sight-seeing tour of the city in automobiles may be taken. Tonight there will be a dinner at the Reid house, at which Cardinal Farley, Bishop and Mrs. David H. Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. H. Choate, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Lincoln, Major General and Mrs. Fred-

LORIMER HEARING HAS BEEN HALTED

New Witness Dug Up by Detective Burns Will Testify.

JUDGE HANECY IS ILL

Washington, Jan. 22.—The Lorimer case is being held up indefinitely because of the illness of Judge Hanecy, Senator Lorimer's counsel.

The evidence of alleged bribery of a witness, which Detective Wm. J. Burns claims to have discovered, will not be presented until Senator Lorimer finishes his testimony.

This evidence relates to the testimony of Charles McGowan, a contractor of Regina, Canada, concerning a conversation which C. F. Wiehe, a brother-in-law of Edward Hines, is said to have had with Wm. M. Burgess, of Duluth, about a jack pot fund being used to elect Lorimer.

McGowan will be present when the committee listens to the Burns disclosures, and McGowan will have an opportunity to testify again if he wishes. McGowan's father is now in Washington. Burns also is here waiting for the hearing to resume. Edward Hines is expected from Chicago today. The hearings probably will not go on for several days as Senator Lorimer is unwilling to continue without his counsel.

through the private car, splintering it. The four men who escaped were in the front of the car.

Bodies Badly Mutilated.

The bodies of the four dead were mutilated. The top of Mr. Harahan's head was torn off. The arms of most of the victims were torn off and a doctor reported the legs are held on by shreds.

The responsibility for the wreck was placed on the towerman at Edgewood by Henry J. Broecker, flagman of train No. 25 at the inquest which began here shortly before noon. He declared the towerman should have blocked No. 3 for ten minutes. Broecker declared that he went back to flag the other train.

"I ran back with my white and red lantern" he testified, "and gave Engineer Stuart the signals. He indicated by whistles that he caught the signals, but it seemed to be too late for him to stop his engine."

The fireman of No. 25, Jesse Gilbert, who was standing on the tender was thrown to the ground and suffered internal injuries.

The two trains were combined after the wreckage was cleared away and proceeded south.

J. T. HARAHAN, JR., AT HOME.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—James T. Harahan, jr., who in the first report was said to have been killed in the Illinois Central wreck, is confined in St. Luke's hospital here. His arm was broken recently. Acting under orders of his physician, hospital authorities have not notified him of his father's death.

W. J. Harahan, another son, who is vice president of the Erie railroad, with offices in New York, was notified of his father's death and he now is on his way to Chicago.

Mrs. Harahan is at the family home here, 3356 Michigan avenue. Her maiden name was Miss Mary Mallory and her home was in Memphis. Mr. Harahan was married twice. Two daughters, Mrs. Mary Nicol and Mrs. A. N. Dale, both of whom are widows, now are in Paris. Cablegrams telling of their father's death have been sent them.

E. B. Peirce was born in Mississippi. He received his education in his native state, and began the practice of law in Little Rock, Ark. For several years he was assistant to the general counsel for the Choctaw Oklahoma and Gulf railroad, which in 1902 was taken over by the Rock Island system. Mr. Peirce immediately entered the law department of the Rock Island system, being made counsel in 1907. Two years ago he became general solicitor. His home was in Winnetka, Ill. He is survived by a widow, one son and a daughter.

RAILROAD ISSUES STATEMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The following statement concerning the wreck was given out at the offices of the Illinois Central railroad company.

HARAHAN'S FIGHT WITH FISH.

New York Jan. 22.—James T. Harahan came to the presidency of the Illinois Central railroad in 1906 through the influence of E. H. Harriman, who had, after a long fight succeeded in ousting Stuyvesant Fish from the presidency. That fight had its beginning late in 1903 according to the late E. H. Harriman who testifying before the interstate commerce commission, alleged that Mr. Fish had been using his position as president of the Illinois Central to "further his own personal interests." Mr. Fish succeeded in retaining the office of president of the Illinois Central for a time but Mr. Harriman continued his warfare against him. In 1906 Mr. Fish was superceded by Mr. Harahan as head of the Illinois Central but the fight continued, when Mr. Fish sought through the courts to enjoin the Harriman interests from voting Illinois Central stock held by the Union Pacific, the Railroads securities company and the Mutual Life Insurance company.

HARAHAN'S CAREER.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—James Theodore Harahan, killed in the Illinois Central wreck at Kinmundy, had risen from the ranks in the railway world. He was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1843, the son of Thomas and Rose Harahan. He began his railway career when a youth as clerk in the office of the Boston and Providence railway at Boston. In 1861 he entered the union army and served three years, a part of the time in the military railway service. In 1865 he commenced work with the Nashville and Decatur railway and in 1879 he became roadmaster of the Nashville and Decatur division of the Louisville N. & L. Afterwards he was with the Baltimore and Ohio, the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railroads as assistant general manager and general manager. From November 1, 1890, to 1906, he was second vice-president of the Illinois Central and from 1906 until a short time ago he was president of the same company. He was interested in several banks and financial concerns and a member of prominent clubs in various cities.

DRUNKS LAID IN SABBATH SUPPLY

Three Men Arrested on Sunday Said They Had Bought Saturday.

TWO DREW FINES

Three men were picked up drunk Sunday by the police and all swore on the witness stand in the city court today that they had brought their whisky on Saturday night to tide them over the Sabbath and although Deputy Prosecutor Callahan tried to get evidence of an open saloon none was obtained.

Frank Warner and Phil Cody took possession of a watch shanty on the Nickel Plate road and refused to leave until Nick Petgen moved them with the auto patrol. They used some bad language and each of them drew a fine of $1 and costs. Joe McPherson was just a plain drunk and although he was arrested on Sunday he was let go on his promise to quit drinking.

Robert Cook was let go last Monday after it had been proven that his earnings went over the bars while his family did not have money enough to buy oil for a lamp. He was back today and promised he would take the pledge for two years and was given another chance. He had a razor when he was arrested and was about to carve his wife.

Joe Helen was fined $5 and costs for vagrancy. He had been sleeping at headquarters for several nights and making no effort to get work.

Henry Gerard, Christ Quinn, Harry Nelson and Joe Schwartz, plain drunks, were let off with a warning. Fred Strong and Cyrus Long were each fined $1 and costs.

Harry Hamilton was not able to appear against John Burns, who is charged with stabbing him Thursday night, and the case was continued until Jan. 29.

A warrant was issued for John Farber, who is held by the police at Portland. He is accused of having robbed J. W. Daniels, of Hicksville, O., several weeks ago. Daniels had a certificate of deposit for $300 and $100 in cash and Farber is said to have lured him to his home on Clay street. His wife says that Farber robbed his victim there and hid the certificate of deposit under his bed. He beat his wife and skipped and she informed on him.

dutiable under the Payne Aldrich bill, which would be placed on the free list, are the following: Iron ore, existing duty 5.29 per cent; hoop and band iron and steel 16 per cent; barbed wire and wire fencing 7.77 per cent; nails 17.67 per cent; horse shoes 21 per cent; tungsten ore ten per cent; zinc ore 36.57 per cent; cash registers, linotype machines, machine tools, printing presses, sewing machines and typewriters thirty per cent.

The reductions made on finished steel and iron products range in many classes as great as 50 per cent. The figures given out by the committee on ways and means to accompany the bill show that this will make a corresponding reduction in tariff revenues from these sources.

The rates of duty under the existing Payne-Aldrich tariff law have been reduced to the equivalent ad valorem duty by the committee. Using the ad valorem equivalent as a basis the important reductions proposed by the democratic bill are as follows: pig iron from 15.66 to 8 per cent; scrap iron from 8.72 to 8 per cent; for manganese ore 15 to 6.52; chrome metals 20.69 to 15 per cent; bar iron and steel 13.8 to 10 per cent.

MUST SHIP BEER INTO "DRY" LANDS

Federal Supreme Court in Ruling Says State Law is Powerless.

CASE IN KENTUCKY

Washington, Jan. 22.—Beer is a commodity and railroads must carry it, when offered for transportation, from one state into "dry" counties of another state, regardless of the laws of the latter state. The supreme court of the United States made this ruling today regarding a proposed shipment from Indiana in to "dry" Kentucky counties.

The case arose when the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company refused to carry beer offered by the F. W. Cook Brewing company at Evansville, Ind. The railroad declined two shipments because a Kentucky law of 1906 forbade bringing intoxicating liquors into local option districts.

The United States circuit court for Indiana enjoined the railroad from refusing to transport beer on the ground that beer was a commodity and that the Kentucky statute, if it attempted to regulate interstate commerce, was no defense for the railroad's refusal. The court of appeals for the seventh circuit affirmed this decision. "Valid as a regulation of interstate shipments, it never was effective as to interstate shipments to 'dry' counties," said Justice Lurton today in sustaining the lower courts.

SOCIALISTS WIN IN MINERS' MEET

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—Socialists in the convention of the United Mine Workers of America won another victory today when they succeeded by a large majority in amending the constitution of the organization to permit to endorse the socialist party. The clause in the constitution forbidding the miners to take any political stand was stricken out by the amendment adopted today.

The convention already has gone on record as favoring government ownership of all industries, but a resolution indorsing the socialist party as the party of the working classes was voted down as being contrary to the constitution and a substitute, declaring "the miners should unite on the political as well as industrial field" was adopted.

The preamble to the constitution also was amended to read the miners are entitled to "full value of their toil" instead of to "an equitable share."

world all the details of our millcosts of production?" demanded President Farrell, today when put on the stand. "If it is," said Mr. Farrell, "I think it a gross injustice to an industry built up in competition with Belgium, Germany, Russia and other nations. If it is proposed to put these secrets in the hands of our foreign competitors our foreign business won't be worth anything within twelve months."

Mr. Reed said cost information had been furnished to Herbert Knox Smith commissioner of corporations. "I asked Mr. Smith to take me into his confidence and tell me what he had learned as to what it cost you to produce a ton of pig iron," replied Mr. Stanley, "and he told me he could tell no one but the president. I went to see the president and found he had no desire to make a deep and mysterious matter about the cost of pig iron. As a matter of fact, it turned out that Mr. Smith never had told him the details.

"The president authorized Mr. Smith to tell me and when I went back to the commissioner he said he did not have the records any more—they'd been sent back to you—and that his recollection on the subject was not accurate. Then I went back to the U. S. steel corporation and asked for a peep at their records and they objected on the ground that it would embarrass them in their business. Thus did this valuable information like the Arab disappear, leaving no trace in the government archives."

"It is most vital that this committee get this information," continued the chairman, "and come what will, we will know it. There is power enough in this government to find it out."

Not Salts, Oil or Pills but Cascarets

No Odds How Sick Your Stomach; How Hard Your Head Aches or How Bilious—Cascarets Make You Feel Great.

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

DISAPPOINTED IN THEIR PLANS

Bluffton Ladies Who Had Bought Tickets Failed to Get to Majestic Theater.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 22.—A party of Bluffton ladies were disappointed in their plans to hear Madame Nordica at Fort Wayne Friday evening when the cars over the Wabash Valley line failed to run after the 4:48 car north left the city. The ladies had expected to go to Fort Wayne on the 6:48 car north, and were at the station in anticipation of the trip but the cars were not running. They had previously procured tickets at the Majestic for the entertainment, and had also purchased their car tickets before they knew of the trouble on the line.

The report here was to the effect that a high tension wire was down between Bluffton and Fort Wayne and no current could be procured. Not until 9 o'clock were the cars again running on schedule time. Mrs. J. S. Postal, Miss Dollie Shaffer and Miss Hermina Ashbaucher left on the 4:48 car and were the only ones of the party that had expected to go to Fort Wayne who heard the entertainment. Among those who were at the station to go were Mrs. Del Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wiecking and Misses Lucile Locke, Sadie Park, Louise Duboise, Bess Sale, Helen Swaim, Mary Shaffer, Ida Peterson, Ella Loser, Ida Bartlemay, Lillian Rouch and James Krill.

DRINK IS HIS MASTER.

Sent Back to Jail to Complete Suspended Sentence.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 22.—Hershal Sawyer, the young man arrested several weeks ago on a charge of operating a "blind tiger," is again behind the bars of the Wells county jail. On his promise of good behavior, Sawyer's sentence was suspended by Mayor Frank Smith after he had served about one month, but the promise failed to make him be good.

For the past week young Sawyer has been on a "spree" and Saturday his mother made complaint to Mayor Smith. Thinking that he could be made to change his actions, the mayor called Sawyer before him. The young man was badly intoxicated. He refused to answer any of the questions put to him and the mayor sent him to jail.

An effort was made to get Sawyer to tell where he bought his whisky, but he declared he would not tell for a thousand dollars, and the police did not learn where it was purchased.

The Lyric is showing a great educational picture today. "The Building of the Greatest Da min the World," a splendid series of pictures showing the vast engineering operations incidental to the construction of the largest water plant in the world at Keokuk, Iowa. This dam is being constructed across the Mississippi river at Keokuk, Iowa, and this picture illustrates some gigantic operations rendered necessary, such as mixing concrete at the rate of 1,500 cubic yards a day; crushing rock for concrete; inclined railway carrying material; the great cantilever traveling cranes; excavating the bed rock of the river; sawing a channel in the bed rock of the American continent; making a new lock in some respects larger than any in Panama, and many other huge constructional operations in actual progress. Another reel of first run pictures and two vaudeville acts complete the show.

500,000 UNABLE TO SECURE WORK

Half a Million Men in New York Without Employment.

A WARNING IS ISSUED

New York, Jan. 22.—More than half a million skilled mechanics and laborers are idle and daily seeking employment in New York city, according to figures compiled recently by the manual labor bureau of the National Employment exchange. The labor market in this vicinity, says an officer of the bureau, never has been so stagnant and glutted as now, and never has there been such a small demand for labor of any class.

Because of this condition and because it is rapidly becoming worse the National Employment exchange, which is supported by about a hundred prominent financial and industrial leaders in the country, issued a warning to all mechanics and laborers to stay away from New York city.

"We want this warning to go into every hamlet in the country," said Edward W. Carpenter, manager of the exchange, "and particularly into the industrial towns and cities in the middle west, which are pouring their thousands of unemployed into this city.

"The severe weather of the last few weeks has brought all outdoor labor to an end, throwing out many thousands of men already here. Such wide publicity has been given to the construction of the new subways that many more thousands—tens of thousands—of men have left their homes in other cities to come here, believing that there would be no trouble in obtaining work.

Hundred Men for One Job.

"A wrong and dangerous impression has been given. There is only one job for every fifty or a hundred men seeking it. This includes every branch of skilled workers and laborers, as well as civil engineers and educated men. If we could only spread word throughout the country that these places, even down to the diggers, have been filled long ago and that there is a waiting list, it would help to lighten the burden under which we are struggling.

"A much stronger demand for labor is apparent in the middle west than here. We cannot even now supply an order for two hundred miners in West Virginia, because the men want to stay in New York. New York is a mecca which attracts men and there is not the labor here to support them.

"While our manual labor bureau, in Cooper square, insists that at least 500,000 men are out of work in this city, I personally know that there are more than 300,000 idle. Of course, at the bureau they are in more intimate touch with the situation and they probably are right. In any event, it is an appalling situation and one that demands prompt relief.

"Most of the mechanics and laborers who come here have nothing more than a railroad ticket. The result is that they at once become objects of charity, thus burdening the community with an enormous and unnecessary tax. It is regrettable that many of them become street beggars."

In connection with this statement and warning by the National Employment exchange the various constituent societies of the Associated Charities have issued urgent appeals for quick help. Each society declares that the demands upon them never before have been so great. The free lodging houses are overcrowded and nightly turn away hundreds of homeless and destitute.

Good Chance Next Spring.

"Next spring and summer we can place more men than we can find," Mr. Carpenter continued: "but that is at least three months away, and how this army of idle men are to exist until then is beyond me. There is no work here now for the men and all who can should get away from New York. We want to make the warning particularly strong for men out through the country to stay away from this city until work on the great public improvements and private enterprises opens in the spring. If they come here they will starve.

"Our records show that more men are coming every day. They are giving up jobs that pay them on an average of $18 a week to come to New York. They not only want to better themselves, but they want to see New York. They have no money to sustain themselves in idleness, we cannot find employment for them, and they quickly become destitute.

"A pitiful thing about this is that many of these men bring their wives and little children here and all of them must accept charity—if they can get it.

"No mechanic or laborer should come to New York now unless he has sufficient money to support himself for three months. I wish I could devise some way to get the hundreds of thousands of unemployed in New York away from here. There is a much better chance for them in the industrial centers of the middle west. If they remain here they must beg, accept charity or starve. The outlook is not bright."

Police Complain of Beggars.

Police Commissioner Waldo said that there are more beggars in the city now than in many years, and that policemen are having much trouble with them. They are not the professional beggars, who are handled easily because they can be convicted quickly, but the mendicants are mostly able-bodied men, who are willing to work, but who can find no employment.

Few, if any, semi-public organizations in the country have a list of more distinguished officers and supporters than the National Employment exchange. Otto T. Bannard, president of the New York Trust company, is president; Paul M. Warburg is treasurer, and Eugene H. Outerbridge, secretary. Among the directors are Jacob H. Schiff, Robert W. De Forest and Francis L. Hine.

Subscribers to the $100,000 fund supporting the exchange include the Russell Sage foundation, J. Pierpont Morgan, Frederick G. Bourne, John D. Archbold, John R. MacArthur, Paul M. Warburg, Mortimer L. Schiff, Francis L. Hine, John G. Milburn, James S. Sevmser, Jacob H. Schiff, John D. Rockefeller, Edward S. Harkness, Robert W. De Forest, George F. Baker, Elbert H. Gary, Otto H. Kahn, T. Bannard, Isaac N. Seligman, William H. Moore and L. F. Loree.

Health and strength hitherto unknown will be felt surging in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized as never before, if the following special treatment is followed by those men, and women, too, who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams of direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

The treatment is simple, thorough and correct. Leading druggists supply the main tinctures, extracts and essences in one-ounce bottles, ready to mix. Get three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound, mix with one ounce compound fluid balmwort, and stand two hours. Add one ounce compound essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture calomene compound (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime.

The ingredients are used for various prescriptions.

THE HIGH SCHOOL PROBLEM.

Two or three important considerations are embraced in the general question of acceptance by the city of the proposed gift of the Hamilton homestead for a public park and museum.

Ought the city to reject gifts of this sort when tendered?

Will the proposal to enlarge the high school accommodations this piecemeal fashion operate to defer and perhaps prevent expansion of the high school along the lines that public convenience and the necessities of the school's work seem to dictate, and this with special reference to the development of the manual training department into a thoroughly useful and practical institution of skilled craftsmanship?

Will it in the end have imposed an unprofitable expense upon the people without having afforded any solution of the problem with which the school authorities are now confronted and with which they will be confronted?

The question is, what is best for the public? That is what the school board must determine. That there is need of additional high school room can hardly be denied, though there is no reason to doubt that if the addition now proposed were postponed some means would be found through which the city could contrive to shift along with the present accommodations for a year or two, until larger plans for the development of the high school can be put under way.

The building of an addition now must mean another addition shortly, if it is accepted as probable that the ratio of increase in high school attendance will be maintained. And so it may go on until the entire square of the original Hamilton homestead is filled with a patwork structure or an assemblage of structures in the effort to provide accommodations a little at a time and keep the high school activities of the city seated in the one place.

It is a broad and perplexing question and one that the board should take plenty of time to examine and determine. It is larger than the immediate need of more room, larger than the opportunity of the city to obtain a splendid read-made park and museum by gift, larger than both taken together. The development of higher public education in Fort Wayne into what it should be is involved. Public convenience is involved. Economy in the spending of public money is involved. The people will in nothing suffer if the board in looking to tomorrow also looks to the day after and many days after.

THE CUMMINS CANDIDACY.

The advent of Senator Cummins as a presidential candidate adds interest to the republican situation. No doubt it affords pleasure to the regular wing of the party as holding out the promise of splitting the anti-Taft forces and so making the president's chances more secure. If it is a sincere candidacy it also lessens the outlook for Senator LaFollette's success. Support that Cummins may command is such as would otherwise go to LaFollette and the Wisconsin senator has need of all he can get if he puts Taft out of the running. There is reason to believe that with a large element of the less radical progressives in the republican party the nomination of Cummins would be preferable to the nomination of LaFollette. He is admitterly out of the ablest men in the party and somewhat less iconoclastic than the candidate from his neighboring state. He could command the support of progressives and perhaps not alienate more conservative sentiment as LaFollette would in the event that the democrats should not present too radical a candidate. LaFollette commands much progressive support more because it is felt that as the real father of insurgency in the congress of the United States he deserves the honors of leadership rather than because of a conviction that he is precisely the type of candidate who ought at this time to be placed before the people. It is suggested in some quarters that Cummins' candidacy is launched with a view to holding Iowa in line for a progressive candidate, but the LaFollette adherents do not appear to take this explanation without broad reservations. They will keep up their fight without abatement. Whatever may be the real purpose of the entrance of Cummins, it contributes to the interest of further complications to the status of the republican fight.

THREE-RIVERS PARK.

From the drawing of the plans made for Three Rivers Park, as printed in Saturday's Sentinel, the people of Fort Wayne may get an inspiring idea of what Mr. George E. Kessler, the engineering architect, has in design as the center of Fort Wayne's proposed river improvements. To realize these plans will mean not only to extinguish a vast expanse of ugliness in Fort Wayne but the creation of great beauty. It further shows what a tremendous potential asset Fort Wayne has in her rivers and increases the wonder that the people have been content for near a century to make nothing of it. Three-Rivers Park will wipe out unsightliness of swamp and morass, jungle and debries. It will replace them with a creation that will delight the eye and confer pleasure on all the people of the city. Great will be the pity and greater the shame if Fort Wayne does not go forward to complete achievement of all this beauty that it lies easily within her power to develop and forever possess.

The Chinese dynasty has abdicated but has not yet gone. Wants time to retreat in good order and to bring away the baggage train. The vacation of imperial premises by a dynasty is considerable of a job of moving and it takes time. Added to this is the fact that the new occupants of the premises are not quite certain on all points of the new job and they need time. Republicanism is up in China, but the new republic has a lot of thinking to do and many arrangements to make. There are four hundred millions of people to please with the new order.

The police can break up the violations of law in the poolrooms only by keeping after them. The patronage of minors is not the only hold the police can get on these places. Most of them not only tolerate but encourage gambling. Get some of the keepers for that and there will be a reform in the poolroom business that will be thorough and tolerably enduring.

The Chinese republic wants to be recognized so it can govern better. Author of the representations to the powers must have inside information that negotiations with the dynasty for immediate vacation of the throne and premises at Peking are going to fall through. Otherwise, there might be a decent disposition to wait.

Detective Burns has been scenting on the Lorimer trail for months and seems to have found something. It has been a devious trail, but evidently not hard to follow. The odor of money of a certain kind is usually distinct and persistent.

Senator Cummins is out for it and it will help Mr. Taft quite a lot if the stampede for The Colonel does not run down the entire field.

URBAN CRUELTY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

About four or five years ago a young man graduated from an Indiana college and came to Indianapolis to make his way. He found an opening, applied his intelligence and industry to good purpose and made reasonable progress. Having left his heart in his home town, he did not seek social acquaintance and as a result, he accumulated a goodly number of male friends, but knew no women. In time his advancement was such that he could afford to marry and he brought here the sweetheart who had awaited his coming with patience and fidelity.

And so they were married. A girl of considerable beauty and culture, much beloved and admired in her home town, fond of friends and full of the joyous life and spirit of youth, she gladly gave up home ties and friends to follow the man she loved in the scene of his labors.

Fitting up a cozy flat in one of our "best neighborhoods," learning the art of housekeeping and learning the ways of her husband kept her busy and happy for a few months. Then she suddenly awoke to the fact that she had not a friend in the whole city. Her husband had brought the men he knew to spend an evening, and they came often, but not a girl nor a woman did she know. Not even the other women in the flat building had called upon her. They had no objections to her whatever. They simply had friends of their own and did not need her. She had gone to church, but, apparently, the church in the city was not a place where strangers might get acquainted. She has been here a year now, and so far as having a circle of friends goes, she is just about where she started. Yet she is highly educated, very good looking, thoroughly charming in every way—certainly a young person who should be welcomed in any circle.

Is it fair? Is it right? Is it christian thus to permit a stranger to starve for friendship? If her case were unusual it would not be worth discussing. But it is not. This sort of thing is occurring almost daily in this and every other city that has grown beyond the limits of the small-town population.

CURSE OF LARGE FARMS.

(Nashville Tennesseean.)

Nearly 50,000 farms in the United States—40,604 to be exact—contain over 1,000 acres each.

And therein lies the full explanation of the failure of many farming districts to improve and attain their full possibilities.

Few men have the organization, the capital and the equipment to operate a farm of 1,000 acres in such a manner that it yields adequate returns on the actual value of the land.

More farms and better farming are the crying need of the nation.

Ten farms of 100 acres each, operated by ten farm owners, yield a vastly greater income to a community than one farm of 1,000 acres operated by a single man.

A farm owner keeps up fences, paints his house, cleans the weeds out of the corners of fields and takes pride in keeping the lanes and roads about his place in presentable condition.

The result is a condition of general thrift which makes a neighborhood attractive to other farmers and enhances land values.

But tenant farmers have no interest in the appearance of land or improvements.

They rob the soil without qualm of conscience and have no heart in advancing the reputation of a neighborhood, or in improving schools and churches.

Smaller farms in the hands of working farmers are the demand of the hour, north and south alike.

Intensified farming must come in all sections. It means the salvation of thousands of families, and it also means the financial salvation of landowners who are blindly holding large tracts that do not yield even a fair interest on the investment.

Cut up the big farms.

Live and let live.

Give the ambitious settler a chance to make a home for himself.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS

Says Quinine Isn't Effective in the Cure of Colds and Grippe.

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or end grippe so promptly as a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

The most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress begin to leave after the very first dose.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply. adv

MORE MONEY ON HAND.

Report Shows an Increase of Funds in the County Treasury.

As against $439,002.46 on hand the first of January of 1911, the county treasurer had the first of the present year $502,876.94, an increase of $63,874.48. This is shown by the report of County Auditor Calvin H. Brown and W. H. Scheiman, former treasurer. The tax levy was one-half cent lower than in 1910.

The receipts, with balance at the beginning of 1911 were $2,113,790.24. The same figures for 1910 were $2,110,074.90.

The expenditures for 1911 were $1,611,402.23, while $1,671,351.37 was expended in 1910.

The tax collected in 1911 was $1,270,926.93 against $1,258,111.10 in 1910.

The delinquent tax collections in 1911 were $77,785.10 against $69,486.34 in 1910. There was also $13,292.80 in fines and forfeitures collected in 1911, which goes into the county treasury, while the fines and forfeitures for 1910 netted only $4,104.20. Liquor licenses in 1911 brought into the county treasury $43,500 as against $27,200 in 1910.

During 1911 the sum of $8,000 more was spent on bridges than in 1910. Court house bonds in the sum of $13,000 were paid in 1911 and none the year before. About the same amount was spent for gravel and stone roads both years.

"Neither Madame Nordica nor Mr. Whitney could have achieved their triumph without Romayne Simmons, who opened the program with the brilliant Chopin polonaise; his mastery of his instrument was complete and one forgot the piano was a mere thing of wood and ivory, it seemed so alive to the emotions of the songs that were sung."—Journal-Gazette.

IN THE CHURCHES

A SERIES OF SERMONS

Being Delivered by Rev. H. P. Master at First Presbyterian.

With the morning service held Sunday at the First Presbyterian church Rev. H. P. Master, the pastor, began a series of five sermons on "Fundamental Principles," the series including the following subjects: "The Conscience," "The Will," "The Reason," "Faith" and "Is the Bible the Word of God?" His theme yesterday morning was "The Conscience," and his discussion of it interesting.

The thought emphasized was that conscience is not that faculty of our being which decides the right or wrong of our actions. This is the function of our reason, our moral judgment. This right or wrong determined by our moral judgment, conscience prompts us to do that which our judgment has decided to be right. But environment and a wrong process of reasoning may lead us to decide some principle or act in a wrong way. Conscience will sustain our reasoning. Hence because conscience prompts us to do a thing is by no means evidence in the sight of God or man that the act is right.

Conscience cannot determine what is right for that is a judicial act of the intellect. It does not even provide the standard by which a man distinguishes one deed as good and another as evil—that standard is furnished by a man's moral nature.

Some of the greatest crimes in history have been justified by the men committing them on the plea that they followed the dictates of their conscience. They reasoned wrong before conscience could be called in to exercise its function, which in all cases is to prompt us to do that which we believe to be right. If our reasoning and judgment are wrong conscience is not a safe guide to follow. And very often sin, a continued life of wrong doing, sears it. It is weakened and no longer is an effective monitor for our actions. Because our conscience fails to condemn us for an act committed is not proof that the act is right.

A SPLENDID SHOWING.

Work of Rev. J. R. Quinlan as Rector at Cathedral.

The annual financial report for the Cathedral parish was submitted to the congregation Sunday at the morning service by Rev. John R. Quinlan, the rector, and the showing made is a splendid one. Its figures show that since Father Quinlan came to the parish as rector, January 6, 1910, the sum of $28,526.80 has been raised and applied upon the Cathedral debt, reducing that debt from $61,286.60 to $32,759.80. This is a reduction of nearly 50 per cent. in the large debt under which the congregation has long been burdened, a debt which Father Quinlan announced he hoped to wipe entirely out within the next two years.

The report showed that during the year receipts amounted to $28,187.25 and disbursements were $28,097.48, leaving a balance in the church treasury of $89.77.

The church debt January 1st, 1911, amounted to $49,132.80, and on January 1st, 1912, the debt was only $32,759.80, showing the amount paid of the Cathedral debt during the year to be $16,373.

When Father Quinlan came to the church in July, 1910, the congregation debt was $61,286.60. That was one and one-half years ago. The total debt on January 1st, 1912, amounted to $32,759.80, showing that under the administration of the pastor in less than two years, $28,526.80 of the entire debt has been wiped out.

PATTERSON-FLETCHER COMPANY

WAS THE SON OF PIONEER BREWER

John M. Riedmiller, Well-Known Business Man, Dies in Denver.

FAILED TO IMPROVE

Unable to realize hopes for improvement in health for which he had gone to Denver, Col., little more than two weeks ago, John M. Riedmiller, sales manager of the Centlivre Brewing company, a director in the corporation and a well known Fort Wayne business man, died at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at a hospital in the Colorado city.

Death was due to cirrhosis of the liver and a throat affection. For the past year Mr. Riedmiller had been in declining health and had been under the care of specialists both in this and other cities. A short time ago he was ordered by his physicians to try the climatic conditions at Denver in the hope of receiving benefit, and accompanied by his wife left for that city. News of his death came in a telegram from Mrs. Riedmiller to the mother of the deceased, Mrs. J. M. Riedmiller, sr., 1345 Taylor street.

Mr. Riedmiller was the son of John M. Riedmiller, a pioneer Fort Wayne brewer. He was born in this city August 7, 1866, received his early education in St. John's Lutheran school and later attended Concordia college. Years before this time the father had established the old Eagle brewery on Taylor street, naming the institution after the Eagle volunteer fire company. He later abandoned the brewing end of the business and conducted a bottling establishment. In this the son was employed, and at the death of the father in 1885 the son, though but 19 years of age, took charge of the plant and managed it until 1893, when it was disposed of and he identified himself with the Centlivre brewery as sales manager. In 1900 he became a stockholder and director in the company.

He was united in marriage Oct. 30, 1902, to Miss Louise Fischer, daughter of Prof. Leopold Fischer, of the Latin and German departments of the Toledo High school. The family home is at 817 West Wayne street. Mr. Riedmiller was a member of Fort Wayne lodge of Elks and Fort Wayne aerie of Eagles, as well as of the Alumni association of Concordia college. He was a familiar figure in the local business world and had a very large circle of friends.

The remains are being brought to Fort Wayne for funeral services and interment.

Effort to Reach Agreement on Wage Scale for Carpenters.

LATTER AS KRAISE

Carpenter contractors in Fort Wayne have been invited to attend a meeting to be held Wednesday evening in the hall at 610 Calhoun street in an effort to agree upon action in reference to the new wage scale demanded by union carpenters.

The call has been issued by Contractor Michael Kinder, who was chosen chairman at a recent meeting, and he named a committee composed of Frank Collentz, Samuel Roush, John Wunderlin, Henry Heckemeyer and Warren Smitley to take up the matter. Only carpenter contractors will be admitted to the meeting.

A scale of 35 cents per hour has been prevailing for carpenters in this city, and the new rate fixed by the union is a minimum of 45 cents per hour. Both the contractors and the carpenters are anxious to have the question disposed of before the building season opens. There is a belief in many quarters that the result will be a compromise that will be accepted by both sides.

TOWN OF CALUMET, IND., ANOTHER GARY

Baldwin Locomotive Works' $5,000,000 Purchase Seems to Insure Its Future.

Calumet, Ind., Jan. 22.—Several transactions of considerable importance were closed in the last week, indicating that the optimistic predictions for this year's market are being fulfilled.

The deal of most significance was that whereby the Baldwin Locomotive works, of Philadelphia, acquired from the East Chicago company 370 acres at Calumet, Ind., as the site of a large plant to cost, it is said, in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, with a complement at the start of from 5,000 to 6,500 employes.

This transaction can be considered the most important in the Calumet district since the founding of Gary, and has stimulated the demand for property in that section as nothing else has done for years. It is probable the location of the locomotive works at that point will bring into being another such city as Gary.

The land acquired by the company lies within sections 27 and 34 of Lake county, Ind., and is bounded by the joint right of way of the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads on the north, the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad and the Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend railway on the south; Cline avenue, the dividing line between East Chicago and Gary, on the east, and Parrish avenue on the west.

Plans Are Extensive.

The announcement that the locomotive company was looking for a site in or near Chicago was made about three weeks ago, and ever since various rumors have been afloat placing the site chosen everywhere from Hawthorne to Gary itself. It is the intention of the locomotive company to erect at the outset plants similar to those it now has at Burnham and Eddystone, which have an output each week of sufficient raw material for ten locomotives of the most modern and largest type.

As soon as the erection of shops for this purpose is completed the finishing shops, machine shops and an erecting department will be built and placed in operation. These buildings, when completed, will furnish employment for at least 5,000 men. The object of the company in purchasing the large area of 370 acres was to provide for extensions in the future, with a sufficient number of shops to eventually have an output of thirty locomotives a week and all material necessary for them. It is understood that if all plans of the company are carried out, depending upon the development of modern engine building, it will employ from 12,000 to 15,000 men.

C. W. Hotchkiss, general manager of the Chicago, Indiana and Southern railroad, was instrumental in bringing the locomotive works to the point selected. One of the principal factors in settling upon the site was an agreement made between the company, Mr. Hotchkiss and Charles H. Geist, president of the Northern Indiana and Electric company, whereby the latter railroad company will install any kind of suburban service desired by the locomotive company.

Calumet adjoins the property of the Indiana Steel company on the west, the corporate limits of Gary, and is located on the boundary line between Gary, Indiana Harbor and East Chicago.

SUPERB GOWN FOR THE OPERA.

The opera season offers many sartorial sensations, one of which is shown in the accompanying picture. The gown hails from Paris, the birthplace of all good modes, and is a veritable masterpiece of the modiste's art. Liberty satin in all of rose shade is used for the foundation o the dress. Tulle heavily laden with pearl veils the satin. A superb cloak of chin chilla is thrown over the chair.

tomorrow evening at the Majestic theater, arrived in the city on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Van Hoose declared to John B. Archer, conductor of the club, that he believed in being on time. At any rate he has time to get acclimated and will be in fine fettle tomorrow night. Mr. Van Hoose is a Tennesseean by birth. Among the big things he has done were to sing the part of Manrico in "Trovatore" with the Chicago-Philadelphia Grand Opera company and the part of Dick Johnson in Puccini's "The Girl of the Golden West," with the Savage Grand Opera company. He has received the highest of praise in every place he has been heard.

CONCERNING SACHETS.

WHAT shall be done with a number of sachets of different odors is the proposition which often confronts the popular woman who frequently receives sachets as little gifts.

She is lucky if her friends know her favorite scent (every fastidious woman likes to keep to one kind), but usually they do not, and she is embarrassed by a profusion of odors. In a large family, or among an intimate circle, it is sometimes possible to exchange the fragrant offerings, so that one member has all the lavender sachets, another all the heliotrope and so on.

In any case the perfume requires careful placing if its owner is to get full value from its sweetness.

An old fashioned idea is to bake the cotton wool on which liquid or powdered scent has been sprinkled. Lay the perfume between two sheets of waddin and then bake it slightly in a quick oven. This process "secures" the sweet odor.

Bureau drawers for lingerie need, as a covering, a pad of this scented wadding. These soft pads may be made of silk muslin tufted with ribbon or with embroidery floss.

Larger scent pillows are made for the linen closet, and here an added precaution is necessary. The slightest possible scent is a delight when it goes out from the fresh linen sheet or pillow case, or when it is shaken out from the folds of a linen towel; but an excess of it is odious.

There are housekeepers who much prefer an odor suggestive of the cedar chest for blankets and linens, and this is got by the use of bags filled with cedar shavings.

The veil case, whether of silk or wide ribbon, whether a roll or a book shaped folder, is one of the little niceties for the careful woman, and its wadded interior can be made more useful by just a pleasant amount of fragrance. The same rule applies to the handkerchief case. And then there are the countless little cambric envelopes to be slipped in among blouses or other garments.

Coat hangers need almost no scent, although it must be remembered that their metal frames are very wearing on coat linings and that it is advisable to stuff and cover them.

WARDROBE HINTS.

Rather a change from the usual order of things is a fichu of velvet, cut with care to avoid a heavy appearance, over a form of pale pinox, the coloring being straw and heliotrope.

Another fichu is of extremely heavy old Venetian point, tinted a grayish shade over aluminum tissue, with silvered fringe to finish it.

Whether it will succeed or not an effort will be made to popularize the long sleeve and lace ruffles will again be worn.

One of the fabrics which promised well at the beginning of the season, but has been very little seen, is the heavy boucle cloth for the rough wear tailor made.

Braid is the popular trimming for plainer fabrics, such as cheviot and serges, yet this is often used with excellent and striking effect upon chiffon, wrought in a heavy and conventional design. Braid also makes a charming trimming for velvet or satin.

The ever increasing craze for fringe is well known, and even for hats this trimming is becoming popular.

NEW VARIATIONS OF THE OVERSKIRT

One of the most attractive forms taken by the inevitable tunic, and one which lends itself admirably to a slim, girlish figure, is the apron shaped effect. A frock carried out in the palest rose charmeuse has the bodice draped with fine Chantilly lace, which falls down at the front and back, forming an apron-shaped tunic bordered with lace.

Three bands of pale rose satin trim the kimono sleeves and front of the bodice, showing an intervelling of lace. A band of soft black velvet ribbon, tied in a tiny knot at one side, encircles the waist, while another is worn round the hips. Just below the edge of the apron are three very flat, broad tucks which take off from the plainness of the skirt and complete a delightful and dainty gown for the young girl.

Satin shoes and plain silk stockings in exactly the same shade of rose should be worn with it, or, as an alternative, very smart black ones.

Given a well cut underskirt or two in soft satin, it would be quite possible to arrange this little apron tunic so that it might be worn alternately over a different shade of frock by doing away with the satin bands on the sleeve. A tunic should always be made with an eye to its possible variation with other slips.

Ham Noodles.

In a bowl drop three eggs, beat just enough to mix; add two tablespoonfuls of cold water, one cupful and a half of finely chopped cold boiled ham and a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika. Mix to a very stiff dough with sifted bread flour. Divide in three or four parts and roll each out very thin, then put a floured napkin or cloth under the paste and roll again until as thin as paper. Sprinkle with flour and let stand while the other pieces are being rolled, then let them rest for half an hour to dry slightly. Roll up like a jelly roll and with a sharp knife cut off in the thinnest shavings. Cook for fifteen minutes in boiling chicken or veal broth, drain and serve sprinkled with chopped parsley. If liked a portion of the broth may be slightly thickened and poured over the noodles when in a serving dish.

Little Orange Cakes.

Cream one-quarter of a pound of butter with six ounces of sifted powdered sugar; add gradually one well beaten egg, the grated rind of an orange, one half of a cupful of cold water and one cupful of pastry flour sifted twice with one scant teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Beat steadily for ten minutes then turn into little fluted patty pans well buttered and bake in a moderate oven until nicely colored. When cold ice with fondant flavored with orange extract and on the center of each make a daisy with strips of blanched almonds, the center filled with finely chopped candied orange peel.

ORIENTAL INFLUENCECE IN DRESS AND HOUSEHOLD DECORATION.

From the Celtlike austerity of white rooms, rigidly severe, taste has veered to black ones, splendid with Chinese gold and celestial blue, rose and green in china, lacquer and rich silks.

The tentative trial of ebon wall papers and cushion covers made last year has been so successful that the fashion for black rooms is expected to spread. There must be a long purse if the Chinese element is to prevail in its true beauty, and without that element the sombre look of the apartment is apt to be depressing.

Add the magnificence of furniture, screens, china and curios from the Celestial land, and, museum-like though the house may be, it will have a splendor that is very satisfying to the lover of beauty.

Celestial blue is one of the colors upon which fashion is now smiling, and embroideries of the Chinese school are transferred from old crepe shawls and coats to frocks made only yesterday.

There is a cloak newly shown which is composed of Chinese blue moire velvet, with a deep collar of ermine and black fox fastened over to one side in front beneath a big clasp of diamonds, sapphires and emeralds. It is cut away in front to display a dress of white chiffon decorated with embroidery done on blue chiffon in a Chinese design, wrought with gold, black and diamonds. The fateful fish, the lotus flower and strange, straggling seaweed-like embellishments are represented. Diamond buttons figure upon the white chiffon pleated pa and the skirt is edged with black f

To this distinguished and novel is added a fur bordered cap made nished gold tissue and lace, em with turquoises and sapphires.

STATE DYERS AND CLEANERS IN CITY

Association Holding Its Annual Convention at Anthony.

MANY NEW MEMBERS

Approximately fifteen new establishments were admitted to membership in the Indiana State Association of Dyers and Cleaners at the opening session of its fourth annual convention, which began at the Anthony hotel today.

William Forger, of New York city, president of the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners, is among those in attendance and in an address to the state association today he gave the Indiana members some information upon the state of the trade in European countries and the methods and processes employed there. Mr. Forger has just returned from a trip to Europe, where he was sent by the national association to make a study of conditions.

The Indiana association is but three years old, and by the time the Fort Wayne convention comes to a close it is expected that about fifty of the more prominent dyeing and cleaning establishments in the state will be enrolled in its membership. J. F. Ermisch, of Terre Haute, is president of the organization and presided at the sessions today.

One of the features of today's session was an address by C. H. Kleiderer, of Evansville, vice president of the association, whose theme was "A Fair Competitor." The association does not attempt to fix a scale of prices, but it is endeavoring to maintain the dyeing and cleaning business upon a scale that will permit first class work and yield a living profit to its membership. Charles Wienand, of Terre Haute, is secretary andtreasurer of the association.

In addition to the business sessions the Fort Wayne committee has provided some social diversions for the visitors. The first of these will occur this evening and it is a theater party at the Temple theater. Tomorrow afternoon the delegates will make a tour of the business districts, including the local cleaning plants and the Bowser works. The convention occasion will come to a close Tuesday evening with a banquet at the Anthony, at which the Bowser band will play.

During our great January sale we are selling any of our $1, $1.25 or $1.50 knee pants at 29c. Knickerbockers are discounted 10 per cent.

WILL SHOW PLAN BY STEREOPTICON

Details of Mr. Kessler's Beautification Ideas Friday Evening.

WITH MR. M'FARLAND

Complete details of George E. Kessler's comprehensive plans for city beautification in Fort Wayne are expected to be shown by stereopticon at the meeting to be held Friday evening in the high school auditorium in connection with the address by J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic association.

Secretary C. J. Steiss, of the park board, is busily at work preparing slides that will show the complete design by Mr. Kessler for the beautification of the river frontage and the enlargement of the park and boulevard system, and these will be displayed with explanatory talks during the evening.

The coming of Mr. McFarland brings to Fort Wayne perhaps the highest American authority on city-planning and city beautification. His home is at Harrisburg, Pa., where Mr. McFarland has accomplished a work that has made him famous all over the country. The meeting Friday evening is open to the public, and it is hoped that all who are interested in the new Fort Wayne forward movement will be in attendance.

MEDICAL MEN APPROVE THIS PRESCRIPTION

Free from Drugs and Opiates Cures a Cold Overnight

The opposition of the medical profession to "patent medicines" is based upon considerations of simple honesty and morality. A physician's prescription is a matter of record. It can be referred to at any time, and its ingredients can be known to the patient. But the patent medicine manufacturer keeps his formula secret, and too often makes it a means of distributing dangerous opiates and drugs.

Every doctor knows the curative properties of virgin oil of pine. Most of them use it in their daily practice. One of the most reliable and quick-acting prescriptions for the cure of colds, sore throat, inflammations of the mucous membrane, bronchitis, catarrh and rheumatism due to excess of uric acid, is made by mixing two ounces of glycerine with eight ounces pure whiskey and a half ounce virgin oil of pine. A teaspoonful every four hours will cure any cold that is curable.

Your druggist can furnish these ingredients at small cost and you can mix them at home. Virgin oil of pine should always be secured in the original half-ounce vials bearing the label of the Leach Chemical Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, as this is the only form in which your druggist and physician can be certain of its purity and freshness.

Discusses High School Question

Editor of The Sentinel:

The case of the board of school trustees, presented in your Saturday's issue, is by no means so strong as might appear upon first reading. Three main points are advanced to support the proposed condemnation of property adjoining the present high school building, viz.:

The absolute necessity for larger high school accommodations; the absolute necessity for new and larger grade school accommodations in several districts; the absolute necessity for economy if both the foregoing necessities are to be supplied.

I admit all three necessities. I agree with the board that the grade schools must be provided first. I would urge the board to proceed at once with the Harmer claim, as I consider, (though I do not live there) that the old building is a standing insult to the good citizens of that district.

But the arguments by which the board seek to sustain their action are, it seems to me, inacceptably weak. To say nothing of its interference with the ultimate acquisition by the city of a public beauty spot and breathing place, 217x320 feet in area, I frankly combat the centralization of any high school in a city of our size on the general principle of its injustice to the pupils who must travel miles daily to reach it, or be denied its advantages. I combat this centralization specifically because, instead of economy it means extravagance—both in the reasonable high cost of ground space in the center of the city and in the style of building imperative.

It could not be thought of to build the proposed enlargement of the present building on a cheaper scale than the original. Yet there are very many thinking people in this city who believe that building to have been unnecessarily expensive, as well many who believe that it might and should have been much more commodious at the same cost. In the undisputed necessity for economy, Fort Wayne citizens may well question the right of the school board to impose upon the public a repetition of this lavish expenditure. The public is not clamoring to have its children housed in palaces, nor is this an argument for cheap or tawdry public buildings. The recent achievements in ward school building have been ample proof that stately and elegant buildings may be built of some other material than massive stone, and at a vastly lower cost. A high school as beautiful as the new Washington building, as splendidly equipped and commodious as the James H. Smart building, need surely not disgrace any part of our city and would outshine the high school of many larger cities. As to its situation, in an expanded high school system, the figures given by Supt. J. N. Study a few weeks ago, make the best suggestion possible. The Hoagland district is, and has been for some time past, sending a full third of the freshman enrollment of the high school. This ratio is increasing at a rapid rate and will doubtless continue to do so, as there is no natural limit to the growth of the city in that direction. Pupils in that district who attend high school must either be exposed to the various dangers of spending the whole day in the down town district, away from home during noon intermission, or spend four street car fares daily. Either alternative is expensive and otherwise undesirable. A tax levy would be actually cheaper, though it would by no means be necessary. The reduced cost of building and the lower price of real estate in that quarter of the city would provide ample difference to cover the possible extra expense of conducting a separate school plant.

DIABETES

We have the following unsolicited letter from James T. Douglas, Harrisburg, Oregon:

Harrisburg, Oregon, June 25, 1908.
John J. Fulton Co., Oakland, Cal.

Gentlemen: I have had Diabetes for over two years and was almost in. Was very weak and could hardly walk. A friend of mine told me of the Fulton Diabetic Compound, and I have now taken thirty bottles and am feeling fine, and can say that I am sure if I had not gotten relief in some way I would now have been under the sod. Hence, I can speak for your compound. It did the work for me. What will you charge me for three dozen? Yours respectfully,
JAMES T. DOUGLAS.

Another—Same mail brought a letter from R. B. Flickling, the druggist in Blackville, S. C., from which we quote: "I have had a customer who had Diabetes in its worst stages. I have gotten him out of bed on the Diabetes Compound and have run out. Send duplicate of last order."

Diabetes is rated the world over as incurable, but recoveries are being reported daily through Fulton's Diabetic Compound. You may ask how it is possible for a person to recover under the Fulton treatment when medical text books admit they have nothing for it.

Let us say in reply, that when the late John J. Fulton discovered he had Bright's Disease and that the text books had no specific for inflammation of the kidneys, which was the real difficulty, he set out in a new direction to evolve an emolient that would reduce inflammation in the kidney tissues. He worked it out and inflammation of the kidneys all along the line from kidney trouble to Bright's Disease, even in the chronic forms, is now curable in about eighty-seven per cent of all cases.

Diabetics took it upon the theory that as Diabetes is an impairment of functions that are closely related to the urinary processes, it ought to get results in that trouble, too.

It did, but much more slowly than in distinct kidney trouble. This led to a modification of the treatment for Diabetics, with the result that Diabetes is also curable in nearly nine-tenths of all cases in people of middle age and upward. (Kidney disease commonly responds in all ages.)

For Kidney Disease, ask for Fulton's Renal Compound.

For Diabetes, ask for Fulton's Diabetic Compound.

Patients whose cases do not respond are requested to write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco, Cal.

PLANS A CHAIN OF DRUGSTORES

Dreier Drug Company Buys Nussbaum Pharmacy as First Step.

GETS NEW LOCATION

As the first step in its plans for a "chain" of drugstores in Fort Wayne, the Dreier Drug company has purchased the Joseph Nussbaum pharmacy at Berry and Harrison streets. Other stores will be added as the business develops.

The store will be removed to a new location at Calhoun and Brackenridge streets, where a lease has been closed for the building long occupied by the Key stone grocery, and the change will be made as soon as improvements in the room are completed. The new store of the company will be under the management of August Harber and Clyde Wilkinson, two young registered pharmacists who have been admitted as stockholders in the Dreier company, which has increased its capital stock from $20,000 to $23,000.

William H. Dreier is president of the company, with Charles F. Freese as vice president, Martin F. Scheele as secretary and George F. Miller as treasurer. The store just purchased is an old and established one. It was originally the Freese & Ranke store on Calhoun street. Mr. Nussbaum first purchased Mr. Freese's interest and the firm became Ranke & Nussbaum. Later Mr. Nussbaum purchased the interest of Capt. Ranke in the business and has since conducted it as the Nussbaum pharmacy.

RIOT ANTICIPATED

BUT POLICE ARE SUCCESSFUL IN HOLDING BACK THE CROWD.

There were no arrests this morning when the seat sale opened for the "Friar Frolics" at the Temple theater. Although there was a policeman on hand to apprehend any of the actors who might venture to the box office to see how many people were falling for the attraction. Over half the house was reserved this morning but there are quite a number of good seats left which it is expected will go long before Friday night. Although deeply interested in the matter the actors carefully kept under cover this morning as they had been warned that not only the police and fire department but also Battery B and board of health were after them to incarcerate them in the Hotel De'Reichelderfer before the night of the alleged "Friar Frolic." Battery B it is declared, intends to use such of the actors as they can capture for ammunition in firing off their field guns, as it is stated that the Friars have such a line of hot stuff prepared for that night that it will make the explosion of ordinary gun powder sound like a penny squib on the 4th of July. At any rate it is certain that the evening of the "Friar Frolics" will cause much laughter and any person who desires a good laugh should not fail to obtain a ticket for the "Friar Frolics," and do so immediately, as the tickets are going fast.

A FUNNY DEAL.

A very good friend of ours recently went to Chicago and bought some very fine Mahogany Furniture, because he didn't suppose we kept an assortment of as fine Furniture as he desired to purchase. It so happened that we are the Fort Wayne agents of the manufacturers of whom he bought, which manufacturers also maintain a retail store in that city. It further happened that the Mahogany Bedroom suit that he bought, No. 5-430 we had at that time in stock and that our price upon the three pieces he purchased was $240. He paid $280, and had to stand freight, risk of breakage, drayage to his home and the expense of unpacking and setting up. How did we find this out? In this way:

Our arrangement with these manufacturers is, that we are to receive a commission on any goods sold in their retail store to Fort Wayne customers. We knew nothing of the occurrence until we received a credit from the manufacturers upon this particular sale of $52.50—which was more than we would have made had we sold the goods.

That was "easy money" to us and we are not kicking about the matter, only we do not want our customers punishing themselves that way. We want them at least to come and look our stock over before they go out-of-town to buy.

With six men in striking distance of the top and only one point between the first and second, the race for the individual average in the Fort Wayne Bowling association is getting good and warm and the leaders are kept on edge holding their own.

Doehrman is still one point to the good, but Ed Harkenrider had a good week and is crowding him for the position, and Ot Sunder is right behind him. George Harkenrider is a dangerous contender and John Beckes is making the high bowlers look at his work, as he has been moving along at a pretty rapid gait.

By taking three straight the Germanias held, the lead, but they are not in position to slip and their tenure of the band wagon place is threatened by the Wolf & Dessauer five. The figures for the week are as follows:

JACK TAYLOR IN DEAL FOR BROWN

Man Who Drifted Into Central Was Traded for the Great Mordecai.

SELEE MADE DICKER

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—Patsy Donovan was the Cardinals' chieftain when Mordecai Brown entered the big arena. The Cardinals trained in Dallas, Texas, the first year Brown joined them and the St. Louis war correspondents were unanimous in sending word north that the three-fingered pitcher was the star member of Donovan's bulky collection of twirling recruits.

That season St. Louis staged its first series between the Cardinals and Jimmy McAleer's Browns. Donovan called on Brown to pitch in the opening battle. In the very first inning a line drive knocked one of the few good fingers owned by the miner out of plumb and he was forced to retire.

When the National league season got under way he showed to fair advantage, but, unfortunately, he was associated with a joke team, so it was hard, very hard for him to put together many victories. The late Frank Selee was in control of the Cubs that season, and he was satisfied, after getting his first squint at Brown, that he was destined to develop into a sensation.

Patsy Donovan had always been very sweet on Jack Taylor. Selee knew that, so while the Cubs were playing St. Louis the second time of the season he felt Donovan out. Patsy admitted he wanted Taylor and attempted to buy him outright. Selee kept him on the string for twenty-four hours or so, and then asked Patsy if he did not have a pitcher he would give up for the veteran. Finally Brown's name was brought into the confab, and when Donovan announced he would part with the youngster for Taylor, the Cub manager grabbed. In a jiffy the proper papers were drawn up and signed, and, all things considered, it was the biggest base ball trade ever made by a Chicago club, though at the time it was pulled it did not cause much talk.

Later, when John McCloskey was commander of the Cardinals, he failed to get along with Taylor, and it was then that the Chicago club got Jack again. A deal was put over, with Taylor and Jack O'Neill, of fair class, joining the Cubs, and Fred Beebe and Pete Noonan, a promising young battery, going to the Cardinals.

COMMERCIALS ARE BOOKED.

Although disappointed by one South Bend team the basketball club of St. Mary's Athletic association, has booked another from the same city for a game at Saengerbund hall next Sunday afternoon. The new club is known as the Commercials and the local aggregation is assured of a hard fight.

COAKLEY HAS A MATCH.

Glenn Coakley, who started his ring career here, is booked to meet Jack Morgan at Indianapolis on Wednesday night this week. The two have met before and Coakley got the popular decision.

FORT WAYNE'S WINTER COLONY NO. 1

Charlie Alberts, who steamed up at the close of last season and made all the other hurlers on the Fort Wayne pitching staff hump to beat his record, is a regular winter citizen of Fort Wayne and a prominent member of the city's baseball colony.

Just to show that he is a steady man of family it is only necessary to look at this photograph taken recently at his home. He has two interesting children, the oldest of which is the little girl in the center and she didn't want to have her picture taken and cried during the operation.

Alberts is putting in the winter as a staid married man should and is keeping in condition at the same time by doing heavy work in the Pennsylvania shops. He has a neat little home, a wife who is helping him get along in the world and he expects to keep at hard work until spring practice rolls around.

He came originally from Grand Rapids and was first seen here as a member of one of the clubs in the lamented Interstate league. Jack Hendricks had him at Springfield afterward, but he could not get along with his manager and his career as a pitcher was probably affected by the unpleasantness that caused him to quit his club.

He pitched here a couple of years under Hendricks, but did not do as good work as he did under either Casey or Burke. He is on the Fort Wayne reserve list and is expected to sign up in a short time.

When Alberts came to Fort Wayne he was unattached, but it was not long until he met Miss Rose Rupp, a sister of Fred Albert's wife, and then he anchored here and the fact that she proved so attractive to him made him a citizen of Fort Wayne.

ZANESVILLE MEN OUT AFTER COIN

Will Raise Money Enough to Take the Club Through a Season

ROGGE IS PRESIDENT

Zanesville, O., Jan. 22.—Though the fans did not turn out in the force anticipated, the best men in local fandom again put their shoulders to the wheel at the meeting of the baseball boosters and set the Athletic craft a-sail for the port of financial safety after a sojourn in the harbor of despair.

The boosters guaranteed $5,000 as a boosters' fund with several business men subscribing in amounts of from $100 to $2.00. With these as a basis, the popular subscription papers were put in circulation.

The board of directors was increased to eleven after having been cut down a short time ago to seven and the following were selected: H. H. Sturtevant, Willis Helmick, W. P. Sharer, Mannie Levi, Henry Schubach, Charles Dawson, Sam Lind, Ben Weber, Enoch Somers, Al Worstall and A. P. Rogge.

The new board of directors organized with A. P. Rogge as president, Willis Helmick was elected vice president, Sam Lind secretary, and W. P. Sharer treasurer. On this board of officers are two former presidents of the club, Messrs. Rogge and Helmick.

At the directors' meeting a proposition for the selection of a business manager of the club was referred to the next directors' meeting.

The selection of the various committees of the directorate will be made at the same time.

With about a dozen applications for the managerial position on hand, the directors will consider carefully before selecting the new playing manager of the club and, while this subject will be considered at the meeting it will not be decided then.

Former President Shryock has the applications of a number of aspiring recruits for positions on the team on file at his office and these will be turned over to the new manager as soon as he is selected. The baseball company appreciated the hard labors of Mr. Shryock in behalf of baseball during the past season and an unanimous vote of thanks was tendered him, the first time that such an honor was ever accorded any man by the local baseball company.

Just as the meeting was drawing to a close Newark sent a wire with an invitation that the locals get into the Ohio State league. The message was signed "Local Newark Fans," and read as follows:

"Why not get into Ohio State league with Newark? We want you and the two towns would draw big."

ODDS AND ENDS OF SPORTING NEWS

Aggie Grant is all set up in a new office at Terre Haute and is sending out his contracts to his players.

Ray Mowe will probably go to Springfield along with Gus Getz. Neither of them can hit hard enough and often enough for the American association.

Bill Phillips says he knows the Central league and that the clubs will have nothing on him as he will be able to frame up a team that will hold its own.

It is 450 miles from Terre Haute to Erie and it would cost about $165 for a club of fifteen men to make the jump but the schedule will be so arranged that it will not have to be made more than once in a season.

Bad Bill Dahlen has announced his line-up for next year at Brooklyn and Dolly Stark is given the regular berth at second. Larry Sutton suggested playing him there instead of at short last season and he made good on the job.

Harry C. Geisel, of Indianapolis, a billiard and boxing referee, and well-known in local sport circles, may be one of President Bowen's staff of arbiters in the Southern Michigan league during the coming season. Geisel is highly recommended to Bowen, and it is his terms that the president is considering.

Buck Herzog, of the New York Giants, says that if he had not been careful with his money and bought a good farm he never would have landed with the Giants this time. He was in a position to be independent when he had his trouble with Manager Tenney last summer, and that saved him.

Now that American association baseball clubs have all practically decided on their spring training camps, it is interesting to note that three of them, including the Mud Hens, will pitch their camp on Kentucky soil. The Mud Hens will hold forth at Lexington, the champion Millers at Hickman, and the Colonels on their home ball yard.

It is said that two archeologists, Prof. Winkle of Berlin, and Hogarth of London, have dug up in northern Syria tablets or slabs, that show that a game similar to baseball existed in 1800 B. C., and that the catcher wore a perforated mask made of the dried shell of the calabash, or native gourd. The race that played this game was called the Hittites. This must have been before Jim McGuire and Cy Young broke into the game.

It was rumored today that the Detroit American league club has a deal under way whereby Captain George Moriarity will wear a Washington uniform next season. The Washington player for whom Manager Jennings is negotiating is not known, though believed to be a catcher. The deal probably will be announced at the schedule meeting of the American league on February 14.

When the St. Louis Browns go south to train next month President Bob Hedges is going to include in the party a professional sprinter to coach the men in base running. Last year the Browns stole only 120 bases, less than one a game. The coach will train the men to get away from first with more speed. Detroit led the American league last year in stolen bases with 277, and the Yankees were second with 266.

SOMEBODY DRAFTED HIS BEST GIRL

Rube Morgan, a Columbus pitcher, has gained a reputation among players who know him as being a second edition of Rube Waddell in the "hot ones" that he gets off at frequent intervals. Rube has one record that probably stands among minor leagues, or at least in leagues that are as short on ready coin as the Ohio State league. In 1909 Rube signed with the Marion club, but had trouble getting his arm into shape and was held on the team for half a season, only pitching four innings during that time.

While in Marion Rube became infatuated with one of the fair sex of that city and was a regular evening caller at her home. That was at the first of the season and Rube came in for a good deal of kidding among the players of the team. One evening Frank Wolfe, who was then playing shortstop on the team, noticed the pitcher hanging around the hotel in a disconsolate mood.

"Why aren't you out seeing your girl tonight, Rube?" he inquired.

"Oh, she has gone into faster company," Rube answered with a grin. "Some other fellow drafted her."

S.S.S. THE ONLY REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is the one and only reliable and certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. This claim is not based on the treatment of a few cases of the disease, here and there, but its success extends over a period of more than forty years, during which time thousands upon thousands have been cured by the use of this great vegetable remedy. S. S. S. is first of all, an absolutely perfect blood purifier, able to go down into the blood and remove every particle of the virus of Contagious Blood Poison. It cleanses and purifies the circulation, and in this way removes the cause of the trouble. Then nature, assisted by a rich, healthy blood supply, quickly renovates and renews the system, while the symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, skin eruptions, discolored splotches, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., disappear, leaving the body entirely free from the effects of this insidious poison. When S. S. S. has thoroughly cleansed and purified the circulation there is no danger of any future outbreak—the blood is pure and the cause of the disease entirely removed. Home Treatment Book containing many valuable and helpful suggestions for those who are curing themselves with S. S. S., and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

BIRD STILL SANG IN DEATH CHAMBER

Old Alfred Kamprad's Only Companion Was Not Saddened.

HAD QUEER HISTORY

Detroit, Jan. 22.—Albert Kamprad, civil war veteran and long self-exiled from his native land because of estrangement from his wife, fell down the stairs of a rooming house and broke his neck. Next morning a coroner's clerk found the old man's sole companion, a canary, singing lustily in the wind-swept and abandoned third floor room that had been his home. With water and food in the cage the bird found it could live without him just as he felt he could live without his dear ones.

The old man lived all alone in two rooms, doing his own cooking. He was a voracious reader and was well posted on national and international affairs. His only diversion was his books and pinochle, which he played nightly in the home of Fred C. Marshall, the undertaker.

Half a century ago Kamprad, who was foreman in a large cigar factory in Machtaburg, Germany, was accused by his wife of flirting with the girls under him. A quarrel followed, and the then young husband and wife separated, never to speak to each other again. Neither ever obtained a divorce and consequently never married again.

"Kamprad was here Christmas day," said Mr. Marshall. "Somebody remarked how joyful it was to be married and have a home and children. Kamprad snorted and sneered. 'I have a wife and children, too, but what does it mean? Nothing,' he said. Of course I was astonished, as he had never mentioned a wife and children before. Then he told the story of his life."

When it was said that he was flirting his wife told her sister, whose husband had a big government position. She went to the Kamprad home and abused Kamprad so much that he put her out. Two neighbors saw the trouble and rushed on Kamprad. He was holding his little girl in his arms, but in spite of this they attacked him and choked him into insensibility. His wife looked on without offering resistance. This embittered her. His wife went to live with her sister.

He remained in Machtaburg a while and came to America alone in 1863, at once enlisting for the civil war, in New Jersey. He served until the close and lived in a couple of cities before coming to Detroit twenty-seven years ago, remaining here ever since.

Kamprad kept up a continuous correspondence with his daughter and his grandchildren but never corresponded with his wife or son.

Kamprad was nearly eighty years old and up to the time of his retirement was an expert cigarmaker and packer.

ALL FIREMEN CALLED BACK

G. R. & I. Puts the Furloughed Men at Work on the Road.

VERY BUSY IN THE PENNSY SHOPS

Men May Have to Work Overtime Three Days in the Week.

All of the furloughed firemen have been reinstated by the Grand Rapids and Indiana company and it may be necessary to take on a few more men, so greatly improved is the freight movement over the line. The last of the furloughed men were called in yesterday. They were Firemen C. J. Pilliod, C. H. Gardner, A. Girardot, A. F. Bollinger and C. Daughtry.

SECOND CALL FOR HELP.

Chicago Railroads Send Here for Trainmen.

For the second time this winter C. M. Preble, the insurance agent and a prominent member of Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has received inquiries from managers of railways at Chicago concerning the prospects of getting some railway men in Fort Wayne. They are badly needed in Chicago and Mr. Preble is asked to send up a number of men. Practically the same conditions prevail here and the chances of getting relief from this source are not very flattering.

WAGES ARE INCREASED.

B. & O. S. W. Adds 5 Per Cent to Earnings.

General Superintendent C. W. Galloway announces a 5 per cent increase in the wages of some of the shopmen, the men affected to be selected through an "efficiency standard" and the advance will date back from January 1. Machinists, boilermakers, car repairmen and blacksmiths in the shops in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will be the beneficiaries and it will affect about 1,000.

HAVE SOLD 400 TICKETS.

Al Ringle, manager of the Pennsylvania shop league ball team, said this morning that the attendance at the annual ball of the team next Wednesday night would be greater than was the attendance at the similar event last winter. Up to yesterday the "boys" had sold 400 tickets and probably over 100 more will be disposed of before the hour for the opening of the big event arrives. The ball will be given at the new Tanner hall, on West Washington street, Wednesday evening.

ELECTRO-TECHNIC'S BALL.

The Electro-Technic ball club has arranged for an annual ball at Tanner's hall on West Washington street on Monday night, February 19, and the committee has already taken up the work of arranging for the event. The proceeds of the ball will be used in helping to defray expenses of the club during the season of 1912. The club has commenced getting a team lined up and has twenty-seven players ready for a "try out."

ORGANIZING THE WABASH CLUB.

C. W. Hausbach has been elected manager of the Wabash shop league base ball team and has taken up the work of organizing for the 1912 season. Several ball players have taken employment at the Wabash shops during the past three or four months and these will be given a try-out in making the selection of players for the team. Manager Hausbach says he will have a strong team the coming season.

MRS. COLMEY VERY SICK.

Mrs. Colmey, wife of Road Foreman of Engines C. R. Colmey, of the Pennsylvania, was taken suddenly and violently ill with appendicitis yesterday morning. She was immediately taken to the Lutheran hospital, where a surgical operation was performed. While her condition is serious, the attending surgeon believes Mrs. Colmey will recover.

ADAM LAMAR BETTER.

News from the bedside of Adam LaMar, master mechanic of the Chicago Terminal of the Pennsylvania, is encouraging and to the effect that the threatened attack of pneumonia has been averted. Mr. LaMar has been sick a week with the grip. Mrs. LaMar has gone to Chicago to remain with her husband until he recovers.

ONLY ONE TRIP NECESSARY.

Only one trip over the sub-division in the capacity of a freight fireman was necessary to convince B. F. Telly that the shop had more attractions for him and at his request he has been reinstated in the erecting shop. "No more work on the road for me," was the statement made by Telly this morning.

MAY STAY OUT WEST.

Engineer Maurice Horgan, of the G. R. & I., has obtained a three months' leave of absence and will leave tonight for California. He has an offer of work at the throttle on a line running out of Los Angeles and may decide to accept and remain on the coast.

MACHINISTS RESUME WORK.

John Raidy, who had an eye hurt a week ago, and W. H. Lasher, who had an ankle broken December 20, have recovered and this morning resumed their duties in the Pennsylvania erecting shop.

JOHN LEACH AT WORK.

General Foreman John T. Leach resumed charge of affairs at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning, after a few days absence on account of sickness.

He will be located at Boise, Idaho. The change is an advance in railroad work for Mr. English, who is quite well known among Fort Wayne railroaders.

The stairs leading from the north end of the tank shop to the copper shop of the Pennsylvania, inside the building, were removed yesterday to make room for workmen in the tank shop. Entrance to the copper shop now is made by two outside stairs, one on the east side of the building and the other on the west side, and by elevator in the northwest corner.

DYNAMITE CASES HAVE WIDE SCOPE

Grand Jury Has Learned Much That McManigal Never Knew.

WILL INDICT MANY

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—"Ortie McManigal's confession concerning the widespread plots has been more than corroborated, and we have unearthed things which McManigal knew nothing about."

James W. Noel, special assistant to the United States district attorney, so stated today in reference to the government's investigation of the dynamite conspiracy. Mr. Noel had just come from a noon conference at which was prepared a list of many witnesses to be called.

"Has the government learned anything which it did not expect to learn?" Mr. Noel was asked. "A great deal more. The investigation has been thorough with a view of making it reasonably certain that convictions might be had where indictments are returned. This week and probably all of next week will be taken up with examination of new witnesses. Then after all witnesses have been dismissed there are certain clerical matters to be arranged before the grand jury reports."

Mr. Noel pronounced "clerical matters" with emphasis.

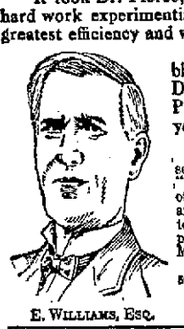
NATURE'S ESSENCE.···Extracted From Forest Plants.

Nature's laws are perfect, but disease follows if these laws are not obeyed. Go straight to nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries here that we can fathom for you. Take the bark of the wild-cherry tree, the root of mandrake, stone, Oregon grape root, queen's root, bloodroot and golden seal, make a scientific, non-alcoholic extract of them with just the right proportions and you have

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists, eight years of hard work experimenting to make this pure glycerio extract and alterative of the greatest efficiency and without the use of a particle of alcohol.



Just the sort of remedy you need to make rich, red blood, and cure that lassitude and feeling of nerve exhaustion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery bears the stamp of PUBLIC APPROVAL and has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic.

"Some time ago I got out of health—my stomach seemed to be the seat of the trouble," writes MR. EZRA WILLIAMS, of Belleville, Kans. "I commenced to doctor with all the doctors at home as well as with other specialists on stomach and digestive organs. None seemed to do any good—in fact, most of the medicines did me harm. Finally, I wrote to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., who replied, stating that I had liver complaint with indigestion and constipation, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.'

"The 'Discovery' and 'Pellets,' have 'put me on my feet again'—seemed to be just what I needed. I could not have recovered without them."

E. WILLIAMS, ESQ.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for liver ills.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

MISS ELEANOR MONTELL

In "At the Mercy of Tiberius" at the Majestic This Evening.

"At the Mercy of Tiberius" is under the direction of Vaughan Glaser. An excellent cast is headed by Miss Eleanor Montell, daughter of Eugene Blair, supported by Richard W. Tucker.

The story of the play was written by Augusta Evans Wilson, and dramatized by Charles Carver and J. P. Riter. Augusta Evans Wilson is also the author of "St. Elmo."

A short synopsis of "At the Mercy of Tiberius" discloses that Beryl Brentano (portrayed by Miss Montell), a young girl of aristocratic birth, is sent by her mother on a mission of appeal to her grandfather who has disinherited the mother for making a marriage contrary to his wishes. The mother is very ill and only an operation can save her. Beryl, much against her wishes, starts to Virginia to see her grandfather. She pleads with him and while he will not forgive her mother, he sends her $100 and a case of jewels. The girl starts to return to New York but before she can reach the train she is arrested for the murder of her grandfather who had died a violent death since she had left the house. Upon this a thrilling and gripping plot is developed, with a happy ending.

"At the Mercy of Tiberius" is under the personal direction and produced by Mr. Vaughan Glaser, who promises that the scenic environment and lighting effects will be true to nature in every respect. He has also engaged an exceptionally strong cast to interpret the characters.

"Through Death Valley" to Give Daily Matinees.

Probably the most ingenious stage "prop" ever developed is used in the production of "Through Death Valley" the melodramatic success that will come to the Majestic theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The "prop" in question represents a rattlesnake, and its making occupied the best known designer of "props" in New York City, exactly two weeks time. The snake plays almost as important a part as the piece . s does the leading man, for it figures in the startling third act climax which has been pronouced by the Metropolitan press to be one of the most thrilling in the annaus of the drama. Fastened by the raw-hide thongs to a stake, it is left to kill the hero of the play who has been made a prisoner. The snake coils and writhes and wriggles with all the life like sinuosity of a real reptile.

Eugenie Blair Coming.

Engiene Blair easily sustains her reputation as America's foremost emotional actress in the part of "Emma Elynge," which will be seen at the Majestic theater February 1 and 2. Messrs. Stair and Havlin have mounted the play with a lavish hand and furnished an excellent company in support. The play deals with themes which appeal to all people alike, and will do good whenever seen.

POULTRY SHOW - CLOSES TONIGHT

Judging Will Be Finished Today and Premiums Will Be Awarded.

NEXT DATE CHOSEN

The second annual poultry show of the Poultry Fanciers' association, of Allen county, which opened Wednesday, January 17, will come to an end tonight at 9 o'clock, with the record of being the most successful poultry exhibition ever held in the city, both in the standpoint of entries and in the attendance. Every exhibitor has been highly pleased with the large list of awards in the classes and specials, and in fact are satisfied from start to finish.

At a special meeting of the association, called Sunday afternoon, the week of January 21 to 26 inclusive, was decided on for holding the show next year and the officers feel confident that every exhibitor in the show this year will be on hand for the next show, if it is possible to do so.

Has Given Satisfaction.

Judge Northup has given the utmost satisfaction in judging the birds at the show and though kept busy at this, he has found time to discuss poultry raising with breeders and show them the weak points in their chickens and furnish many valuable suggestions.

The Purdue poultry appliance exhibit, on which Prof. A. G. Phillips, associate instructor in animal industry of the university, lectured Friday, has been of strong interest to the breeders and arrangements will be made to have a three days' institute at the next show.

All premiums and special awards will be made today, but no bird will be allowed to leave the building until after 9 o'clock this evening. The work of clearing the building will commence immediately after that hour and it is expected that by Tuesday evening every bird will have been removed.

Gets Silver Trophy Cup.

Judge Northup completed judging in the classes Saturday and started judging the specials, which he will finish today. J. C. Howenstein, secretary of the Allen County Poultry Fanciers' association, was awarded the handsome silver trophy cup, valued at $75, and contributed by the Berghoff Brewing company, for the best male bird on exhibition. P. H. Weikal, Marion, Ind., was awarded the silver trophy cup, valued at $50, ror the best female bird. T. H. Nellesen, of the Forest Hill Poultry yards, captured the honors for the best pen exhibited by Allen county breeders.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.
Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22.—Hot dry weather in Argentina favoring the late harvest and the crop movement had a bearish effect today on the price of wheat. May started at $1.00 to $1.00⅝, a loss of ⅛c to ⅛@¾c, touched $1.00¾, and reacted to $1.00½@1.00⅝.
After some further dip, a stronger tone developed, owing to the decrease in the visible supply being larger than expected, but the influence did not last. Closing prices were nervous, with May wheat ½c net higher at $1.00⅞.
Selling on the part of commission houses eased off the market for corn. May opened ⅛c down to a like amount higher, at 66⅜c to 66⅝c, and declined to 66¼c.
The corn market rallied a little when wheat became firm, but weakened on account of a big gain in primary receipts. Closing figures nevertheless, were steady, with May ⅜c net lower, at 66⅛c.
Oats suffered some depression from numerous resting orders to unload at any advance. May started a sixteenth off to a shade advance at 49¾@49⅞c to 49⅞@50c, and held around 49⅞c.
A big run of hogs sent packers to the bear side of provisions. First sales were a shade to 10c lower, with May delivery $16.00 to $16.05 for pork, $9.30 to $9.32½ for lard and $8.60 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.
New York, Jan. 22.—A majority of the active stocks opened weak today. Union Pacific, Amalgamated Copper and General Electriv, which lost ⅝, were heaviest. American Smelting and Lehigh Valley receded ½. Some of the less prominent issues made gains. American Steel Foundry rose a point and Denver & Rio Grande preferred ¾.
Reading was marked up in a brisk manner to 159½, but the movement had only a temporary steadying effect on the market. Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley declined to a point under Saturday's closing and various other stocks lost large fractions.
The undertone became better after 11 o'clock and activity increased as prices advanced. There was an active speculation in the fertilizer stock. Reading and the Hill stocks showed strength, but the remainder of the active features ruled generally slightly below last week's closing figures. Bonds were steady.
The market closed heavy. Trading became lively in the final half hour, when large purchasing orders for the Hill stocks flowed into the market. Great Northern preferred was most in demand and jumped 2⅝ to 132½. Northern Pacific rose 1⅜. The rest of the list was strengthened to only a slight degree. Stocks were sold again in the last few minutes, United States Steel declining to 66⅝.

WHITE FRUIT HOUSE

CLEAN BILL FOR DR. H. W. WILEY

Investigating Committee of Congress Reports Him All to the Good.

A FULL VINDICATION

Washington, Jan. 22.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley is held "not guilty" of conspiracy to evade the law, in a report filed with the house today by the committee which conducted an investigation last August into the charges upon which President Taft was asked to dismiss the nation's chief chemist from the government service.

Not only does the committee absolve Dr. Wiley from criticism for the employment of Dr. H. H. Rusby, of New York, as a government expert at a technical rate of $20 per day; but it attacks in measured terms the whole administration of the national pure food law and demands of congress action to change the method in the department of agriculture by which the law is now applied.

Origin of the Trouble.

The so-called Wiley investigation arose from the charges made in the agricultural department that Dr. Wiley, Dr. W. Bigelow and Dr. L. F. Kebler, all of the bureau of chemistry, had secretly arranged with Dr. H. H. Rusby, of New York, so that the latter need work only eighty days in the year for an annual salary of $1,600. This was declared to be a deliberate evasion of the established limit of $0 per day.

The report of the committee on expenditures of the department is signed by all of the members, democrats and republicans alike. It declares that Dr. Wiley and his associates communicated the facts of Dr. Rusby's employment fully to Secretary Wilson. It holds, however, that the contract for the employment of Dr. Rusby is technically illegal, and recommends that congress make specific provision for the employment of experts in the agricultural department.

McCabe the King-Pin.

Charges were made during the committee's hearings that the work of Dr. Wiley and his associates was revised and often rejected either by Solicitor McCabe or by the board of food and drug inspection, of which McCabe, Dr. Wiley and Associate Chemist Dunlap were the members. The position of Dr. Dunlap was variously stated to be co-ordinate with, and superior to, that of Dr. Wiley, who was supposed to be the supreme officer of the bureau.

The committee makes a sweeping criticism of the methods of the department. It recommends that the chief of the bureau be given the full power which the law supposes him to have, over all employes of the bureau; that the board of food and drug inspection be made up entirely from within the bureau of chemistry, and that the power of the solicitor to pass upon the findings of the bureau of chemistry be withdrawn.

It is recommended that the chief and his two associates shall be offered the same rank sitting with equal power as board members. All are to be subject to removal by the appointing power.

"The hearings disclosed a condition of discord existing in the bureau of chemistry which has lowered the discipline, impaired the efficiency of the service and has added to the cost of administration," says the committee. "It will require positive and well considered reorganization to restore the efficient service to which the public is justly entitled."

The Remsen referee board, around which much of the investigation centered last summer, is held to be legally constituted, but its activities as a supervising power over the bureau of chemistry are declared to be outside of the law.

The payment by the government of the expense of three members of the referee board who testified in the Indiana state cases involving the use of benzoate of soda is declared by the committee to have been "wholly without warrant of law."

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to Its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dandruff germs which rob the hair of its life, color and lustre, makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty and makes it grow.

SIMPLE WAY TO KNOW

If the Kidneys Are Really Affected; Also Gives This Simple Prescription Which Anyone Can Prepare at Home at Nominal Cost. Makes the Kidneys Act aturally, Forcing Them to Filter Out Uric Acid, Curing Worst Forms of Dyspepsia and Rheumatism.

There are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of stomach and kidney trouble. It is nothing more nor less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the points and muscles, causing intense suffering, frequently resulting in deformity; often reaching the heart and death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent, painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach diseases, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

A simple test of this urine is to void a small quantity in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning, if there is a reddish brickdust sediment, or white fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good prescription treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases and the sufferer can mix it at home: Fluid Extract Juniper Berries, one ounce; Compound Fluid Balmwort, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, four ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses before each meal and at bedtime.

Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple treatment.
